

WOMEN SPONSOR BENEFIT PARTY IN SCHOOL GYM

WAA To Raise Fund For Delegates To Convention

TUESDAY EVENING

A benefit card party will be held Tuesday evening, November 19, at 8:00 o'clock in Jacobs' Hall. The party is being sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association. A card party has been held by the women's athletic department each year since 1932. The profits go into a fund created for the purpose of sending delegates to the Athletic Conference of American College Women, which will be held next spring at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis.

At least two delegates have been sent each year. Last year the delegates were Elinor Larson, '35; Mary Rigg, '35; Hortense Geislar, '36; Phyllis Knudsen, '38; Ellen Forehead, '37; Lucille Mitchell, '35; Helen Saltares, '38; Alice Lindstrom, ex '38. They attended the meeting in Chicago.

Door prizes will be awarded and light refreshments will be served. Tickets may be purchased at Miss Ruth Diamond's office in Jacobs' Hall for twenty-five cents.

Helen Saltares is general chairman of the arrangements for the party, and she is assisted by Elinor Johnson, Phyllis Knudsen, and Ellen Forehead.

President Visits Municipal Unis

President Rowland Haynes, who attended a convention of the Association of Urban Universities at Boston, Mass., Monday and Tuesday, November 11 and 12, will visit three Municipal universities on his return trip from the meeting, according to a wire received by his secretary Wednesday.

He visited the University of Akron, November 13, the University of Cincinnati, November 14, and will be at the University of Toledo, tomorrow, November 16.

He plans to return Wednesday, November 20.

Who's Who Choice Made By Student Council Tuesday

Six students were selected by the Student Council at a meeting Tuesday to represent the school in the "Collegiate Who's Who," published by an organization of the University of Alabama. The selections were approved Wednesday afternoon by the Student Activities committee.

Three women and three men were chosen because of their scholastic standing, and for their prominence in student affairs. Those selected were: Dorothy Anderson, '36, vice president of the senior class; Ellen Hartman, '37, editor of The Gateway; Bernice Perimeter, '38, member of the debating team; John Moucka, '36, president of the senior class; Kenneth Turner, '36, president of the student council; and Kenneth Hargrove, '36, president of the Pan-Hellenic organization.

"Who's Who" is published annually and lists the most prominent students of all the colleges and universities in the United States.

Dr. Vartanian To Lecture On Bible

On Monday evening, November 11, Dr. V. H. Vartanian, of the department of philosophy, began a series of eight lectures and discussions on the Bible in the Railroad Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Council Bluffs. The material of these lectures and discussions will be taken from the Gospel of Luke. The lectures will emphasize the social phase of the life of Christ.

One of the leaders in Council Bluffs, Rev. G. H. Bamford, expressed his appreciation by saying, "Dr. Vartanian's exposition of the message of the Bible is thorough, logical, interesting, and spiritually challenging."

One hour of college credit may be earned by students registering in this course, who comply with the University regulations.

Dr. Vartanian gave a similar series last year.

Dr. T. Earl Sullenger, head of the sociology department, spoke at the St. Paul Lutheran church Father and Son banquet Friday, November 8. His subject was "Youth and Age."

BOARD AWARDS CASH FOR BEST GATEWAY COPY

Four Students Win Prizes For Work Published

SPECKTER GETS 3

Awards for the six best stories published in last year's Gateway have been announced. The prizes are five dollars in cash.

The winners are as follows: Editorial, first semester, Cecil de Long, "Call It Loyalty;" second semester, Franklin Buxton, "Who Thinks Too Little."

Feature, first semester, Martin Speckter, "Indian Ceremony Interest Aroused;" second semester, Martin Speckter, "John Nelhardt, Poet Philosopher."

News, first semester, Macy Baum, "6-2 Win Over Chadron Brings League Title;" second semester, Martin Speckter, "Alumni Group Presents Indian Tradition Plan."

The committee of awards was composed of Mr. Robert Lasch of the World-Herald, Mr. Fred Hunter of the Bee-News, Dr. Benjamin Boyce, and Mr. A. M. Johnson.

Thetas Observe Founders' Day

Theta Phi Delta fraternity held its annual Founders' Day banquet Wednesday evening, November 13, at the Elks' Club.

Reed Zimmerman, president of the alumni association, was toastmaster. He introduced Mr. Lloyd M. Bradfield, dean of men, who commended the fraternity on its position of leadership on the University campus.

Charles Jerome, '39, president of the pledges, and Donald Ryan, '37, president of the active chapter of Theta Phi Delta, spoke on behalf of their groups. A program, including a magician and the Bee Ruth dancers, followed the speeches.

Charter members of the fraternity who were present at the banquet were Frank Broadwell, '19, Dr. William H. Thompson, '17, William Campen and James Smith.

Drama Group To Present Recital In Auditorium

The University's dramatic department will present its first recital of the year Tuesday evening, November 19, in the University auditorium.

The play production class of the regular session, under the supervision of Mrs. Jean Jarmin, will present the play, "Those Machines." The cast will include Virginia Lee Long, Virginette Olsen, Jack Pike and Dale Wolf. Sylvan Frankel, assisted by Amy Rohacek, will direct the production.

Under the direction of Mr. Elmer B. Mortison, the night play production group will present Lewis Beach's "The Clod." The cast will include Bonnie Smith, Melvin Coldwell and John Mulligan.

Phi Delt Dance In Gym Tonight

Two hundred bids have been issued to the "Great Broadcast" dance to be given tonight in Jacobs' Hall by the pledges of Phi Delta Psi sorority. Dorothy Koser and Ruth Hall are in charge of the arrangements.

Guests of honor will be Dr. Lyman H. Harris, Dr. and Mrs. T. Earl Sullenger, Dr. Benjamin Boyce, Miss Ruth Diamond and Mrs. Rene H. Stevens, sponsors of the sorority.

Lee Sanderson's orchestra will play. Decorations will be carried out in a theme of black and white.

Sigma Tau Delta To Meet Tuesday

Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, will meet Tuesday evening, November 19, at 8:00 o'clock at the Paxton.

Each member has been requested to prepare an essay or a short talk to be presented at the meeting on one of his favorite literary characters. Gladys Reynolds, program chairman, will preside at the meeting.

The French club has postponed its meeting until next Wednesday, November 20, and the meeting will be held in room 2 at 4 o'clock.

OMAHA TACKLES NODAKS IN GRID TILT TOMORROW

Nodaks Undefeated In North Central Conference

POSSIBLE UPSET

Again Omaha is the underdog in the game scheduled with North Dakota University Saturday afternoon at the N. S. S. A. park field. This team tied the North Dakota State 20-20 and uses much the same type of playing, the Notre Dame system, T-shape formations and other typical plays. The two North Dakota teams are so much alike in weight, players, coaching, and style of playing that the two teams could trade uniforms and little difference could be noted.

The Cards went into action against the Bisons last Monday hoping to pass their way to victory, but the Bisons passed their way to a win. The Cards scored once and too late to matter. However, with the breaks with them the Cards have a good chance to upset the dope bucket and win.

Fortunately, the Cards came through with few injuries in the game earlier in the week, and will be able to meet the North Dakota University with full strength.

The Varsity looked good against the Frosh-Wednesday, who were using the Dakotans' plays, but this was also the case last week. Heavy drilling of the linemen by Baker was featured throughout the week. Hartman featured light drills Tuesday, but cracked down Wednesday with a strenuous coaching routine. The starting lineup for the Cards will remain the same as used in the other games.

Ex-Service Man Outlines Goals Of Legionaires

Mr. Albert R. May, commander of the American Legion Post No. 1, Omaha, delivered an Armistice Day address Monday morning, November 11, in Jacobs' Hall on "The Meaning of Armistice Day to the Ex-service Man."

Reverend W. H. Hunter, pastor of the Benson Presbyterian church and a member of the Benson post of the American Legion, presented the invocation. Colonel G. A. Skinner introduced the speaker.

May outlined the three things which the American Legion is fighting for: Adequate defense; care of disabled; and the fight for democracy against subversive influences.

He recalled many personal experiences in his effort to show the horrors of war.

"We were told that this was a war to end war, and was to make the world safe for democracy," stated May, "and we must have an adequate army and navy to assure this."

Sue Kemper, accompanied by Lillian Anderson, led in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, and America. The program was concluded by taps being blown by Vance Senter.

Annette Lloyd, '38, is spending the week-end at Ames, Ia., and will attend the Engineering Carnival there.

TO THE HOMECOMING COMMITTEE

The committee in charge of the University's Homecoming celebration last month has announced that they not only met their expenses but made an additional amount which will be turned back to the school either in the form of a gift or in cash. The committee, composed of members of the Student Council, worked long and hard to put Homecoming over and it is to them that the students owe the success of the celebration. The committee is to be commended for the capable and profitable manner in which they managed the Homecoming activities.

OMAHA NOT ALONE

Omaha is not alone in its struggle for greater student enthusiasm. The state university has its troubles, too, according to an interview with the head cheerleader, which appeared in the November 10 issue of the Omaha Bee-News. If enthusiasm is low and may vary with the weather in a university where the campus is the center of student life, then students in an urban university, where student activities are not wholly centered around the university, such as the University of Omaha, cannot be too severely criticized if their school spirit is somewhat spasmodic. Student enthusiasm at the University has withstood the pressure of two defeats without faltering. Such an unwavering spirit is indicative that the University of Omaha is nearing that stage in its development where it will be supported constantly by a loyal and enthusiastic student body.

CONVOCATIONS

Convocation attendance has been very poor this semester. The number of students present at the special assemblies has been representative of approximately one-fifth of the students on the campus. Regular class work is interrupted once each week to provide a period during which leading men and women may be brought before the student body. It is to the disadvantage of the student to have missed the addresses of Mr. Booth, Mr. Zimmerman, Miss Niven and Mr. May. These speakers were selected by the administration to address the students because it was felt that each was outstanding in his own field, was capable of interpreting contemporary affairs to a group of college students and had ideas and an understanding of value and importance to offer the students. The students are urged to take advantage of the opportunity to hear and meet these lecturers of world-wide recognition and acquaintance when they appear at the University's convocations.

Le Corbusier Scans the Towers of Gotham—New York Times Magazine (H. I. Brock)

Humanities students, who will study LeCorbusier and modern architecture next semester, will be interested in learning what this great French architect thinks of New York's skyscrapers. In last Sunday's issue of the New York Times Magazine Le Corbusier is interviewed by Mr. Brock. This Frenchman, while finding New York progressive and experimental, was not particularly impressed. He prefers tall buildings, but thinks they complicate rather than simplify the problem of circulation for the whole city, taking up surface space needed for that circulation, and sucking in and dumping out too many people for narrow arteries of traffic to carry without painful congestion. Narrow streets that turn sharply at right angles tend to tangle pedestrians and motorists at every crossing, thus wasting time and stealing long hours from sleep, and starving the activities and enjoyments which make living worth while.

These skyscrapers of ours (according to our French "connoisseur") are the promise of a new architecture—sign-posts pointing the way. But they are not an ultimate achievement. They are planted in the ground like posts, instead of being set above the ground on stilts to make room for the prime essential of circulation.

If The Sky Fall

(Helen Partridge)

Full of human interest and the problems of youth this light novel by Helen Partridge has the capacity for holding one's interest to the very last paragraph. The youthful author has caught the spirit of her own college life by showing Adeline Craig as an optimistic and carefree student.

Towards the close of Adeline's senior year at college her father loses his fortune and subsequently takes his life. But Andy—as Adeline was called at college—is not too proud to work. Through Judge True, an old friend of the family, she gets a position as director of publicity for a charitable organization in which the lame, the disabled, and the blind are cared for and taught useful occupations.

In her added duty of raising funds for the institution Andy meets and falls in love with Kim Roundtree, a young, rising newspaper columnist. Together the two try to raise funds despite the depression and the scarcity of money. They are hampered by Regina True, the childhood playmate of Andy, who ensnares the reckless Kim. In the meanwhile Andy is persistently pursued by the faithful Emil Rheinhart, director of the institution. However, everything in the end works out to a satisfying conclusion.

An old English proverb says "If the sky fall, we shall catch larks." Mrs. Partridge, with this in mind, tells modern youth that if it loses everything, if it cannot realize its ambitions, if it seems crushed, it must tenaciously hold on to life and take with honor whatever it can, for there is nothing so bad in which there is not something of good.

If The Sky Fall is one of the new novels purchased by the library this fall. Forget your date and enjoy an evening's entertainment just the same.

A thundering herd of Bisons swept out of the northwest Monday and trampled the Cardinals' North Central conference hopes into the mud of the NSSA field. The final score read: North Dakota State, 20; Omaha, 6.

The first quarter was scoreless, but it was apparent that the Cards were staging a losing battle. Never stopping their game fight the Cards pulled some fancy aerial work in the final six minutes of the game and netted a touchdown. With visions of an upsetting comeback before them the Cards kept passing, but the Dakotans were too alert.

The Cards were held to the smallest yardage gained this year in any game.

State made the first touchdown through the air after several power plays had put the ball in scoring position. Fullback Schranz dropped back and passed 34 yards to End Sloan, who ran 13 yards and went over untouched. It was the first pass by either side and caught the Cards flatfooted, coming after the line drives which preceded it.

Schranz led scoring in the third quarter when he made a couple of 25 yard runs to make a first down on the Card 12. May picked up a yard, then a penalty put the ball on the 1 yard line. Schranz scored with an end run.

Pearey opened up with passes in earnest after this score. After exchanging punts the Bisons made a grand march from their 30 for their last score.

Late in the fourth quarter Omaha opened up with their aerial attacks and Pearey passed to Loder for 25, then to Sorensen for 10 and then Loder caught a 35 yard pass on the five yard stripe. Leo ran wide around the end and was hit by two Bisons but made the

Hinshaw Speaks To International Relations Group

Hubert Hinshaw, '36, discussed the situation in Ethiopia and Italy at the present time at the International Relations club meeting, Wednesday, November 13. The group met at the home of Betty Majors, '37.

"Italian-Ethiopian relations have not been of recent birth, but originated some fifty years ago," stated Hinshaw. "Italy became interested in this African nation at the time when all the major powers were acquiring African possessions."

Hinshaw showed that Italy was better off since their Ethiopian campaign, as commodity prices, productivity and wages were rising. Unemployment decreased 37 per cent, and the militia has absorbed all the unemployed men in the last few months.

It is assumed, he continued, that Italy would govern and exploit the resources of Ethiopia better than Ethiopia itself, although Haile Selassie has done much to introduce modern science into his country.

He condemned Ethiopia for violating all its treaties since the first one made in 1906, called the Tripartite agreement and including the last one in 1928, the Italian-Ethiopian friendship treaty.

In conclusion he asked one question: Should the world return to a state of monarchy such as it had before 1924, or try to make the League of Nations a success?

Professor Dayton E. Heckman is sponsor of the club.

Members of Alpha Kappa Delta and sociology department majors met Thursday evening, November 14, at the home of Miss Ann Goodbinder for the monthly business meeting of the fraternity. Mr. C. F. McNeill, director of federal relief in Omaha, was guest speaker.

Bulletin Board Eliminates Need For Daily Newspaper On Campus

Bulletin boards are wonderful institutions! All the services of a modern daily newspaper are rendered by the one on the north wall of the main hall in Joslyn Hall.

The conference standings of those mighty grid teams, the Tornadoes and the Wildcats, coached by "Katch 'Em Kwick" Kersenbrock and "Battling Big" Zerchling, are posted daily. The schedule of their grid encounters on the PSD (psychology department counter) field are a bi-weekly feature of the bulletin board.

The latest news about Professor So-and-So not meeting his classes is placed on the board as soon as the bulletin is received in the registrar's office. Any news of importance to the students can be found at any time there in Joslyn Hall. The bulletins remain there until the space which they occupy is needed for something else or until more important or recent news is found.

The board conducts an efficient lost and found department. This service is offered free of charge, the only requirement being that the announcement of the lost or found article have the signature of the registrar attached thereto.

The classified ad section of the board does a rushing business, particularly at the beginning of each semester when used and unopened books are put up for sale. The employment bureau of the board is not quite so active as it has been in days gone by, but the bureau is looking forward to a rise in its business.

The board also conducts a most unpleasant service. It is the duty of the board to notify the students that they are wanted in the bursar's office, which always means that there are delinquent tuition payments to be met.

Among the more pleasant tasks of the board is the calling of meetings for the various groups somewhere around the campus. The sign, which appeared Wednesday, November 13, reading "Theta meeting today. Bring your own liquor!" is typical of the notices appearing on the board. Chalk and eraser are available day and night for those who wish to remove wholly or in part any bulletins from the board. One last small but significant service of the board is the reminder posted daily of the number of shopping days left until Christmas.
